

Year 12 A Level Photography Introduction

Tuesday 5th July 2016

Hi Photographers!! I am looking forward to starting this course with you in September!

The course is a two year A Level that will comprise of two marked units of work. The first unit is a Personal investigation, which means you will choose the theme and develop a project based on this. It also includes a 2,500 word essay. The second unit includes an exam, and you will have to choose a project to develop from the question paper.

Before beginning your personal investigation we will be developing your skill, knowledge and understanding through a series of mini projects. Camera skills and functions will be a big part of the first project, so please bring your camera with you to every lesson.

In September, I will need to currently see where your knowledge of the subject is as I know not all of you will have studied Photography before, and to do this I am setting you a summer project!

Summer Introduction Project!!!

Title: Summer 2016!

You will need to take 15 – 30 photographs which sum up your summer holidays. I am looking for landscape and portrait photographs, candid shots and close up photographs of interesting objects, textures, etc. Only take photographs that inspire you, and that you are interested in taking. This will help me to see where your natural ability and interests are. Show your personality in these images!

Please do not edit these on your phone or Instagram! I want to see the original image, as we will do an introduction to Photoshop using these photos! Please bring them with you on a pen drive/memory stick to the first lesson.

Good luck and if you have any questions or concerns please do not hesitate to email me on tmawson@asap.org.uk

Have a fantastic summer and see you in September!!!
