Dear Parents/Guardians

I hope this letter finds you and your family well and that you are looking forward to slowing down over Christmas.

As the incoming Headteacher, I wanted to write to you all to introduce myself and communicate how privileged I feel to be serving the All Saints' community. From my time on site, it is clear that there is something special about the school and I truly believe that, within a few years we will be nationally recognised as excelling.

I am aware that the school has been on a journey over the past few years and I am committed to continuing the brilliant work carried out by Lee Sargeant and the team. Please rest assured that we remain committed to putting students at the heart of all our decisions and I look forward to talking to many of you about this over the coming months.

The past eighteen months have been unprecedented for all of us and it is easy to feel disconnected from each other. I want All Saints to help unify us as a community – across the local area, across our faiths and across the Ted Wragg Trust. Together we have the opportunity to provide a world-class education for our children and we are committed to making that happen.

As we move into the New Year, there remains a level of uncertainty as to what the next few months will look like. However, our mission at All Saints will not change: we will work to celebrate achievement across all levels in school, with a deep commitment to ensuring Year 11 have the very best chances in their summer examinations.

I look forward to meeting many of you at our open events, parents' evenings, or just out in the community.

Have a wonderful Christmas,

Yours faithfully

Mr Scott Simpson-Horne
Headteacher
